

The right experts in the right place

We are looking for

M&A Working Students (m/f/d)

DARAG insurance group is a specialist insurer that operates in the fastest-growing segment of the insurance industry: run-off, which offers market potential in Europe of more than 250 billion euros. We are experts in taking on insurance companies' legacy risks. By tailoring the necessary transactions, we give our clients final capital relief, allowing them to focus on their core business. Thanks to its long-term oriented investors, DARAG is financially strong and independent. Our business model makes us pioneers in Europe. Our ways of thinking and working are predominantly characterised by the key principles of innovation, service and future prospect. Key to our success is our positioning in the European market and our multi-cultural, multilingual team.

What we can offer

- » Early responsibility: Working as part of our M&A team, you will conduct in-depth research on a range of potential target companies and markets, support the team with different projects related tasks and prepare presentations. You will be part of the complete transaction process from project initiation to the onboarding process.
- » Interaction across hierarchies: You will gain early exposure to interesting transactions and participate in meetings with different personalities and hierarchies from your start in our team. We judge our staff on their capabilities rather than their title: the experience you gain in M&A will enable you to assume increasing responsibilities and will provide you with important skills for your future professional career.
- » Personal development: We provide opportunities for personal development and responsibility beyond what working students may experience at large companies. You will gain insights on how M&A acquisitions are executed and how an insurance company operates on a daily base.

What we are looking for

- » A positive and proactive work attitude, analytical and communicational skills, a constructive approach for working in teams and ambition to learn more about M&A in the insurance sector
- » A first experience or background in the (re-)insurance industry or M&A is welcome but not a prerequisite
- » Solid IT-skills in MS-Office (Excel, Word and PowerPoint)
- » Fluency in English, a second foreign language is appreciated

If you feel interested and you are ready for a challenge during your studies, we would be happy to receive your complete application by e-mail (career@darag-group.com). An interesting role in an international, dynamic and exciting environment awaits you. A positive working climate is just as important to us as supporting our employees in developing their careers and professional skills.
